PRIVATE EXPERIENCE / ENGLISH

Cejar & Tebinquiche

A half-day excursion to discover the various forms of water within the Atacama Salt Flat (Salar de Atacama). The circuit connects the Cejar complex, the "Ojos del Salar" (Eyes of the Salt Flat), and Tebinquiche, combining landscape interpretation with time for contemplation and photography.

Your itinerary

Cejar Complex

We begin in the area of the salt lagoons. If current reservations and regulations permit, there will be time to experience floating in the designated lagoon; the specific location will be confirmed when the activity is booked.

Ojos del Salar

Next, we visit these natural water springs located in the middle of the salt flat. We will observe the contrast between the water and the salt crust, and discuss how the system functions. Jumping into the water or swimming is not a standard part of the activity.

Tebinquiche Lagoon

The tour concludes with a walk to observe the salt flat environment, its birdlife, and the microbial structures that the guide will explain during the tour. The information provided focuses on ecosystem processes, distinguishing these from general claims regarding the origin of life.

Refreshments and Return

The final break includes refreshments and drinks at a designated spot. The afternoon version is timed to take advantage of optimal lighting conditions; the exact schedule depends on the date and the specific route, followed by the return to your hotel in San Pedro.
