PRIVATE EXPERIENCE / ENGLISH

Chaxa, Toconao & Jere

A half-day excursion through the Atacama Salt Flat (Salar de Atacama), the village of Toconao, and the Jere Ravine (Quebrada de Jere). The route combines birdwatching and salt-crusted landscapes with the water, architecture, and cultivated lands of an oasis.

Your itinerary

Chaxa Lagoon

We follow the designated trail to observe the salt flat and the birds present. The guide introduces the ecosystem and its contrasts, without guaranteeing specific wildlife sightings.

Toconao

A stop in the village allows for exploring the town square and its architecture from accessible areas. Entry into specific buildings depends on whether they are open and cannot be assumed at all times.

Quebrada de Jere (Jere Ravine)

A short walk reveals the presence of water and vegetation within the ravine. Please respect local crops and private property; this is not the full-length hike through Jere and Bosque Viejo.

Pause and return

We provide a snack before the return trip to San Pedro. This afternoon option is designed as a standalone excursion-following a lunch break-rather than a continuous extension of a morning tour.
