PRIVATE EXPERIENCE / ENGLISH

Valle De La Luna

The official circuit covers three specific locations within the Salt Mountain Range (Cordillera de la Sal). We combine vehicle travel with walks to observe dunes, former salt-mining sites, and eroded rock formations; the "Vallecito" area is not included.

Your itinerary

Great Dune (Duna Mayor)

From the designated access points, we approach this massive accumulation of sand. The walk highlights the contrast between the dunes and the salt ridges, offering opportunities for photography and insight into how the wind shapes the landscape.

Victoria Mine (Mina Victoria)

We visit the remnants of past salt-mining operations. The guide explains the mining process and the relationship between the salt deposits, rock fractures, and the landscape we explore today. Access to closed-off mine galleries is not included.

Three Marías (Tres Marías)

We observe these natural sculptures and explore the different ways their forms can be interpreted. There is time to contemplate the site as a whole and take photographs from designated areas before the return trip by vehicle to San Pedro.
